BAND CONCERTS FOR THE COMING SUMMER

Twenty-Five to be Given and Each to Have Vocal Music As a Feature

A band concert without a vocalist is not exactly according to the idea of what a band concert should be, according to the opinion of Salem folks, and when some time ago it was announced that the concerts would be given this summer without singers, there was such vigorous profest, that the matter was taken under consideration at the last meeting of the city council.

The contract between the city counil and John Graber as business manager of the band, specified that in consideration of the payment of $1,965, 25 concerts should be given during the aonths of June, July, August and Sep-

No mention was made of singers in the contract, the terms calling for a band consisting of 21 pieces, to be made up of such instruments as the manager might choose, subject only to the condition that the band, when fully organized, would be capable of rendering first class music.

The damenad for singers below a conditional problems of the Marshfeld Chertian trip will not be decided until the rail-troad notifies the organization.

The demand for singers being recogmised by the city council, at the meet-ing last Monday night, Mayor White was authorized to enter into a contract with Mr. Graber, at the figures, $1,965 for 25 concerts, excepting that the number be reduced to 23 concerts, in

Brief of Williamette Valley Mills Filed In Lumber Rate Case

Washington, May 18,—The brief for the Willamette Valley Lumber Manu-facturers' association as inutervenor-was filed with the Interstate Commercecommission in the case involving lumber cates from Portland to Utah and Idaho, by Attorneys J. N. Teal and Saude McColloch.

The intervenor asserts that the com-plainants are not really interested in the amount of the rate charged, but are seeking to establish a differential against Willamette vaffey mills,

The case was heard in Portland we eral weeks ago, almost every lumber organization of the northwest appearing as intervenor against the Portland mills. The railroads, nominally defending the present rate arrangement, left the defense entirely to the intervenors beyond introducing some per functory testimony.

It appeared that the rate fight had nothing to do with the resonableness of the prevailing rates of themselves, but with the application of rates from one territory against those from an

The defense, therefore, consisted largely of protests from lumbermes situated similarly to the Willamette valley mills with respect to Portland against any disturbance of the present grouping of rates.
